Coroner's Jury Returns Open Verdict in Fatal Shooting

No Recommendations Made; Mrs. Lewis, Others Testify

A coroner's jury, after hearing more than two hours of testimony at the inquest into the death of Truman Hill, 42, of Carrier Mills, returned an open verdict that he died of gunshot wounds from a shotgun fired by Teresa Lewis. No recommendations accompanied the verdict, returned last night at the courthouse, where the inquest was conducted by Coroner James Thornton with State's Attorney Robert Wilson also asking questions.

Mrs. Lewis, 39, sister of the dead man, at present is being held on the technical charge of assault with intent to murder.

There was some conflicting testimony but none to the fact that Mrs. Lewis' three brothers and the son of one of them came into her house in Carrier Mills early Sunday morning, that at least part of the group had been drinking, and that she had begged them to go and leave her alone, that she said she was sick, that she threatened to call the law.

Sweat Testifies

And there was no conflict in testimony that Mrs. Lewis obtained a shotgun from the home of Walter Jolly, a neighbor, and that it went off in her hands, killing the brother, Truman, who died about 20 hours later in the Harrisburg hospital.

State Policeman Adolph Sweat, who with other officers was at the scene shortly after the shooting, produced some interesting testimony.

He said that Mrs. Lewis told him early that morning that her brothers, Truman and Ralph, had started a fight in her house and showed where a light bulb had been knocked out.

Sweat also said she told him she

Grant Probation For Contractor Turned Bank Robber

CHICAGO (UPI)—Maynard Davis, 47, a Morris, Ill., school board member and respected contractor who for a few wild hours turned bank robber, was put on a year's probation by a federal judge today.

U. S. District Judge Michael L. Igoe granted the probation after reading a report which said that Davis had done so much for his church, his community and his friends, that "society perhaps owes him some help in return."

Davis pleaded guilty Feb. 4 to the $964 holdup of the Community State Bank of Seneca Jan. 7.

David Root, Davis' attorney, said that residents of Morris had gone on treating Davis as though nothing had happened, at least as far as his business relations were concerned. Root said their attitude was that no matter what happened, Davis still had painting contracts to fulfill and they wanted him to fulfill them.

Eisenhower Is Willing for Talks at Geneva

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower would attend an East-West "summit" conference in Geneva, Switzerland, next fall if the Russians offer hope for a limited disarmament settlement and agree at least to talk about Germany, high administration officials said today.

The United States apparently has reached the point where it is willing to forgo discussions by government heads of the questions of the United Nations veto and Russia's European satellites.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon charged in a Chicago speech Wednesday night that the Soviets are blocking the road to the summit by insisting on conditions which they know and we know will assure its failure.

High administration officials reviewing "summit" prospects believe chances are increasing for a first-step disarmament agreement. This might include an inspection-backed ban on nuclear testing for two or three years, an East-West zone to guard against surprise attack and studies on ending production of fissile materials for weapons purposes.

Rebels Mass for Counterattacks

American, British, Dutch Civilians Flee Fighting In North Sumatra

SINGAPORE (UPI)—Rebel quarters reported heavy fighting tonight around the North Sumatran capital of Medan, from which 500 American, British and Dutch civilians fled aboard the 20,000-ton Dutch liner Oranje.

Revolutionary quarters here told the United Press that rebel forces were massing with seven battalions of troops north and south of Medan for counterattacks on the important city of 300,000 persons.

The sources said the heaviest fighting now was in progress around Lake Toba, which is approximately 44 miles south of Medan.

They said fighting also was in progress in the Pakanbaru oil center area, with rebel forces attacking government troops who had seized the region last week.

Pakanbaru is the focal point of the U. S.-owned California Texas rebels were grouped in the jungles northwest of Medan and were expecting reinforcements from the estimated 150,000-man Achinese army. The Achinese are a war-like people who live in the Atjeh region of extreme northern Sumatra.

The Communist New China News Agency in a broadcast heard in Tokyo quoted the Indonesian Communist newspaper Harian Rakjat as charging that the U. S. diplomatic mission in Medan had helped the rebels withdraw from that area.

A United Press dispatch from Medan said a 15-vehicle convoy took nearly 200 American women and children from Medan to the port of Belawan, 15 miles to the north, to board the Oranje which was diverted there from its regular Far East run. It will sail to Singapore.

There were about 300 Dutch refugees in the group and 50 British rebels were grouped in the jun-

Four Governors Urge Contracts For Jobless Areas

Stratton One Of Group to Confer With Defense Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Four governors today urged Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy to place more defense contracts in areas with high unemployment.

They also protested against the administration's proposed 10 percent cut in National Guard strength now 400,000 officers and men.

Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois later declined to tell reporters whether McElroy gave the governors any satisfaction. However, Stratton did say that McElroy promised to advise governors in advance before the administration reaches any decision on changing policies about the guard.

McElroy is scheduled to address the annual meeting of the Governors' Conference in Miami, Fla., May 18.

The governors conferred with McElroy at the White House but President Eisenhower did not sit in.

Governors in addition to Stratton were Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Albert D. Rosellini of Washington, and Joseph B. Johnson of Vermont. They are members of the executive committee of the Governors' Conference which conferred with Eisenhower Wednesday on extending the period of payment of unemployment compensation benefits.

The high court ordered the test case of the law returned to the Cook County Superior Court for further proceedings "consistent" with the ruling that the 1957 law is valid.

The case reached the Supreme Court on appeal from the Superior Court from the Justice George M. Fisher held that the "quick take" act was unconstitutional. It grew out of the lower court ruling in favor of the Illinois Brick Co., owner of two parcels of property in Cook County required for the widening and improving of Cermak Road between First Avenue in Maywood and Mannheim Road.

In an opinion written for the court by Justice Byron O. White of Nashville the high court said:

"After careful consideration, we conclude that the eminent domain act, as amended (by the 'quick take' law), has ample safeguards to assure the ascertainment and payment of just compensation and is not violative of the defendant's constitutional rights."

The children are: Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Simpson and Clarence Bivens. The only son lives in Nevada, Ia., and his son, Dr. Gordon E. Bivens, the only grandchild, is a member of the faculty at Iowa State College of Agriculture, Ames, Iowa. There are two great-grandchildren.

She also leaves three stepchildren: Dwight Young, Dayton, Ohio, Claud Young, Decatur, and Mrs. Grace Dillsworth, who resides in Florida.

She was a member of the Christian church and was active in the church, missionary society and Sunday school before her illness.

She had also been quite active at Douglas Presbyterian church when she resided in that community during the lifetime of Mr. Young who was a member there.

Her body was taken to the Rogers funeral home and will lie in state there.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the First Church of Christ in Eldorado, where she was a member. Elder Lester Ragland assisted by Elder Charles Branum will officiate and burial will be in the Poplar cemetery.

The Communist New China News Agency in a broadcast heard in Tokyo quoted the Indonesian Communist newspaper Harian Rakjat as charging that the U. S. diplomatic mission in Medan had helped the rebels withdraw from that area.

The revolutionary sources said rebel forces seized more than 200 million rupees while they held Medan briefly during the weekend.

They said the rebels, who were under the command of American-trained Maj. W. F. Nanggolan, also captured 70 trucks loaded with ammunition and supplies while they were in Medan.

A United Press dispatch from Medan said a 15-vehicle convoy took nearly 200 American women and children from Medan to the port of Belawan, 15 miles to the north, to board the Oranje which was diverted there from its regular Far East run. It will sail to Singapore.

Railroads' Plight

Editorial—BY BRUCE BIASSET
Increasingly in this country we seem to accept policies of drift as a normal response to problems. Nowhere is this more clearly seen than in the evident indifference which greets the dilemma of the nation's hard-pressed railroad system.

The railroads' financial and other difficulties are well known now. They have told their story to Congress, and appealed for action. But wise heads in Washington question whether anything measurable will be done.

A nation so basically prosperous as ours can suffer more than a few economic invalids within its midst and still go howling along. The coal industry was in straits for years, and its revival of recent times may be wearing out. Agriculture is plagued with chronic afflictions.

The position of the rails, however, is a little more crucial. They're still a very big part of our economic circulatory system. For all their losses to competing air, truck and pipe lines, they carry half the country's freight.

Nothing that has happened has changed the fact that the railroads are the cheapest means of hauling bulk freight—except for waterways which cannot serve all areas.

In wartime this fundamental characteristic makes them of life and death importance. From 1940 to 1944, for instance, they doubled the freight tonnage they carried. In another war their burdens would be even heavier.

Right now their business has tailed off with the decline in general economic levels. But in better times, even when they are losing relative strength to competitors, their freight loads have mounted to peacetime highs and their equipment has been pressed beyond reasonable limit.

With earnings shaky before the recession struck, the rails cannot attract new investment money and cannot finance improvements out of profits. Yet the more their equipment ages and deteriorates, the worse their competitive position becomes.

Specialists feel the railroads are in the grip of vastly outdated regulatory laws, particularly as they relate to rate-making, maintenance of service and tax burdens.

Congress holds the answer but appears disinclined to move. It will act only if an aroused public gives it a push. Evidently that can happen only if the American citizenry can be made to understand how serious it is in peacetime—and how perilous it would be in war—to try to sustain indefinitely a nation whose great rail system is anemic and withering.

Air Force Urged To Stop Armed Training Flights

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. — A congressman today demanded the Air Force stop armed training flights near urban areas as a result of the accidental strafing of two communities by a B-47 jet bomber.

Rep. William K. Van Pelt (R-Wis.) told Air Force Secretary James D. Douglas that lives were endangered when 20-millimeter cannon shells ripped three homes and spattered streets Monday night at nearby Sheboygan Falls and Oostburg.

Last week, other congressmen issued similar demands when an unfused atomic bomb accidentally dropped from a B-47 at Florence, S. C., injuring six persons.

An Air Force investigating team rushed to the Sheboygan area Tuesday and confirmed that the shells came from a Lockbourne Air Force base bomber on a routine gunnery training mission.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

—BY DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Two Texans agree both on tax truce and on slapping down Nixon; Nixon's tax cut talk gets auto manufacturers worried; Postmaster General puts more clothes on a Greek goddess.

WASHINGTON. — The secretary of the Treasury, Bob Anderson, made an unusual private statement about the vice president of the United States the other day in a talk with Speaker Sam Rayburn. In brief he said, "don't pay any attention to Nixon."

The statement was made during a tax-cutting truce arranged by Secretary Anderson and Rayburn, aimed at halting the rash of statements and counter-statements, moves and counter-moves, which might have chopped the American tax structure to pieces.

Rayburn and Anderson are both from Texas. Sam is from Bonham, while Anderson is from Vernon, which, at distances go in Texas, is not far away. At Vernon, Anderson once managed the 500,000-acre Waggoner Ranch and sometimes sold calves to Sam's old friend Sid Richardson. It was Richardson, a Democrat who supported Eisenhower, who first got Anderson, also a Republican, into the Eisenhower Cabinet as secretary of the Navy.

So when Vice President Nixon began publicly urging a tax cut, and House Democrats began whittling their pencils to write a bill beating the Republicans to a tax cut, Secretary Anderson phoned his Texas friend, the Speaker. And they both agreed on a tax truce. Neither would try to stampede the congress or the country into a tax cut.

BACKSTAGE MANEUVERS

Before this truce, however, some interesting things had happened.

One was a running debate inside the administration regarding the best means of remedying the depression. The cabinet has been split right down the middle. On one side, Nixon, Attorney General Rogers, Secretary of Labor Mitchell and Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton want fast action to cut taxes and adopt other forms of job relief.

On the other side, Secretary of the Treasury Anderson, Secretary of Commerce Weeks, Secretary of Agriculture Benson, Sherman Adams and Economic Adviser Raymond Saulnier all oppose. They believe business will start picking up this spring, want to wait for the final figures for March, point out that you can't spend money for public works and cut prices at the same time.

The situation is delicate, inasmuch as the Treasury has to raise three billion in cash to finance the government next month, and Secretary Anderson wants to coordinate his money-raising policies with the administration's anti-recession program.

Nixon, making a strong pitch to Ike for fast action, showed the President a confidential political survey indicating that the recession had hit the Republicans so hard that if the election were held today, the Democrats would win by a landslide. He urged a $5,000,000 cut in income taxes before the Democrats acted first.

This preceded the vice president's statement last week proposing a tax cut.

Immediately thereafter, representatives of the big automobile manufacturers sent frantic word to the White House to get the vice president to pipe down. His hopes of a tax cut, they said, had caused an automobile buying strike. People were not going to buy cars when the excise tax, averaging around $200, might soon be abolished. While the auto makers want the excise tax removed, they don't

BIG, BIG VALUE—AT LOWEST PRICES IN 15 YEARS

SUPERVISING her adult class of Carbondale area secretaries who are learning to be machine stenographers is Miss Gerry Sundelius, standing, instructor at Southern Illinois University's Vocational-Technical Institute. The night class for beginners is sponsored by the SIU Division of Technical and Adult Education which plans an intermediate and advanced series this spring and summer. Professional machine stenographers can earn upwards of $400 monthly. From left: Mrs. Mary Jane Gallatin, Murphysboro, Mrs. Betty Mayhall, Mrs. Sheral Purcell, and Mrs. Virginia Entsminger, all of Carbondale. (SIU Photo Service)

It Takes Lots of PWEUS THU

Cryptic Language of Machine Shorthand Confusing But Rewarding to Operator

CARBONDALE, Ill. — In a profession where "write" becomes WREU and "information" is turned into TPOR, it takes lots of PWEUS THU to get the right information into right writing.

It all sounds—and looks pretty confusing to the layman, but to a machine stenographer the alphabetical juggling shown above is a streamlined way of boiling down language for quick handling. "PWEUS THU" for instance, means "business enthusiasm," and most machine stenographers have to have plenty of it to survive their training.

A group of Carbondale area office workers are learning the cryptic language of machine shorthand in a new adult night course set up by Southern Illinois University's Division of Technical and Adult Education. Meeting twice a week at SIU's Southern Acres campus east of Carbondale, the beginning class is nearing the end of a 12-week run. Registration for a 12-week intermediate class will be held April 17 and an advanced course of the same length will be conducted next fall. The beginners hope to complete all three courses, thus qualifying themselves as practitioners in a field where salaries range upwards of $400 a month. In high demand for courtroom and conference work, machine stenographers have an edge on their pencil-pushing associates because they can punch out two and four voice testimony as neatly as reciting the ABC's. At least 60 percent of all courtroom reporting is now done by a machine stenographer, quietly coding every spoken word on a knee-high machine at speeds up to 200 words a minute. The machine stenographer's unique skills were publicly emphasized during TV's famed Kefauver hearings when one man and his box-like (Stenograph) machine recorded hundreds of reams of talk for posterity.

Teaching the non-credit class for SIU is Miss Gerry Sundelius, an instructor at SIU's Vocational Technical Institute from St. Paul, Minn., who learned her skill as a conference reporter in her student days at the University of Michigan. She also will teach the non-credit intermediate and advanced courses and hopes to hear from more prospective adult students with some beginning experience.

Cost of the course is $18 plus five dollars worth of books which students keep for the length of the series.

The demand for trained machine stenographers is not restricted to court and conference rooms. Miss Sundelius says the tape recorder supplements, but will never replace, the stenographer who can cope with a fast-talking employer. "The boss ekes to talk to his secretary," she says, "it's just human nature. Who ever heard of a thoughtful tape recorder?"

Frigidaire '21' Game At O'Keefe's to Continue Until Friday 5 p.m.

The Frigidaire '21' game, sponsored by O'Keefe Lumber Co., Carrier Mills, will continue until 5 p.m. Friday. At that time a drawing will be held to determine the winner of the Frigidaire electric dryer.

Freeman O'Keefe of the O'Keefe Lumber Co. states an unusually large number of persons from Saline, Gallatin and Williamson counties have visited the store and participated in the '21' game.

Everyone is eligible to play, there is nothing to buy and you need not be present to win. Entry blanks were in Monday's edition of The Daily Register and additional copies are available at O'Keefe's.

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist church held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. William Douglas, 6 East Clark street. Mrs. Douglas was assisted as hostess by Mrs. Noble Shaw and Mrs. Ora Jenkins.

The nominating committee made its report and the following were elected to hold offices the coming Guild year: Miss Jeanette James, president; Mrs. Lolo Eddy, vice president; Miss Mary Richardson, secretary; Mrs. Earl Dabney, treasurer; Mrs. Lyle Wharton, promotion secretary. These officers will be installed at the April meeting.

Mrs. William Stain gave the devotion, using as her theme, "The March of Missions in Healing." From her scripture readings she cited incidents of healing which Jesus did during his ministry on earth. She also said that to many the doctor and nurse are next to a minister in personal service.

Mrs. Wilma Gidcumb used the same central theme in her lesson. The question of what do we mean by medical missions was asked and she told at length about hospitals, specific training in all phases of medicine and spiritual and personal assistance given to the unfortunate in these medical missions.

The worship setting was displayed on a table and included the open Bible, a lamp and a picture of a nurse administering to a child in Alaska. This picture was sent by Mrs. Opal Catlin, who is now administrator of the Maynard McDougal Memorial hospital in Nome, Alaska. This hospital was equipped by and is maintained by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church. Mrs. Lolo Eddy had written to Mrs. Catlin for information to be relayed to the local Society and Guild and she sent a tape recording in which she told of the hospital's administration. It is the only hospital in Alaska that serves the white population, there being two others for the native people. She expressed her gratitude to the WSCS for its part in establishing this hospital.

Twenty members and two visitors, Mrs. C. E. Combe and Mrs. Gladys Gibbs, were served refreshments with St. Patrick favors.

Mary Barger and Carrie Randolph were in charge of refreshments and refreshments of ice cream, cake and soft drinks were served. Others attending were: Gertie Cook, Golda Dunn, Ebbie Souther and Nellie Wright. Pauline Durfee was a guest at the meeting.

"No, I'm not surprised you're quitting to get married, Miss Blair—I guessed you were the domestic type when I saw your spelling!"

CLABBER GIRL'S LUNCHEON

Corn Bread

Soft together 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 3 teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder, 3 tablespoons sugar, and 1 teaspoon salt. Blend in 1 cup yellow corn meal, 9 slices cooked crisp bacon, finely snipped, 3 tablespoons finely diced green pepper, and 1/4 cup chopped pimiento. Combine 1 egg, slightly beaten, with 1 cup milk, and 1/4 cup melted bacon fat, butter or margarine; add all at once to corn meal mixture and stir until dry ingredients are just dampened. Pour batter into a greased 8 x 8 x 2-inch baking pan. Bake in a 425° F. (hot) oven about 25 minutes. Serve hot, cut into serving pieces. Yield: 6 servings.

You should know THIS about baking!

It's the balance of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, balanced rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven... That's the story of Clabber Girl's double action!

Balanced Double Action means Better Baking!

The parachute is probably the oldest idea for man-carrying "aircraft." Leonardo da Vinci sketched one in his notebook in 1514. Fausto Veranzio published a description of a workable parachute in 1595. It was Andre Jacques Garnerin who made the first "live" parachute jump from a balloon in Paris in 1797. Modern parachutes are simply improvements on the Garnerin designs.

Tips on Touring

Winter Driving Tips

When you drive in snow or ice, your reflexes are all right. But how about your car's?

Its reflexes slow down. It needs more time to stop, start or turn—so allow for it. A few seconds can add a lot of safety to your driving.

Even with reinforced tire chains, your car stops no faster at 25 miles an hour on glare ice than at 50 an hour on dry concrete. With special winter tires, you stop no faster at 15 miles per hour on glare ice than at 50 on dry concrete.

Watch your reflexes, too. They can be dulled in a car with the windows shut tight and the heater on. This lack of ventilation can also mean a foggy windshield. Leave your side window vents partly open for a steady supply of air—to keep your head and windshield clear.

On snow and ice, or on rain-swept streets, pump the brake pedal gently to stop. If you're going up a steep hill, shift to a low gear; it'll help to keep the car from gaining an unsafe speed.

Best general advice: when you start out, get the "feel" of the road. Try your brakes while driving slowly (and away from traffic) to find out just how slippery the road is. Then adjust your speed to road and weather conditions.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our wife and mother, Mrs. Maude E. Fox, who passed away three years ago today, March 20, 1955.

She always leaned to watch for us, anxious if we were late, in winter by the window, in summer by the gate.

And though we mocked her tenderly.

Who had such foolish care,

The long way home would seem more safe.

Because she waited there.

Her thoughts were all so full of us.

She never could forget.

And so I think that where she is,

She must be watching yet.

Waiting till we come home to her.

Anxious if we are late;

Watching from Heaven's window,

Leaving from Heaven's gate.

Sadly missed by husband, Wiley Fox, and children. 222-1

A board spokesman said benefits last month totaled $19,093,635 as against $20,127,378 paid in January, which had three more days.

Of those drawing aid during February, 21,000 resided in the Chicago region, which includes Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan.

From last July through February, a total of 17,969 railroad workers exhausted their benefits, the board said.

It listed unemployment benefit payments to 158,100 railway workers last month. The figure compared with a record 249,000 rail employees on the jobless rolls during November, 1949, the board said.

The board administers unemployment insurance for 1,050,000 railway workers throughout the country.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

(Written for NEA Service)

Lent must be remembered every day from Ash Wednesday until Good Friday. This season is not one to be started with fervor and forgotten until Holy Week. Each day must find everyone on his knees praying for humility, for sin-certy and for the ability to bring others to the Master. This task is for everyone. It cannot be left to a selected few.

Our spiritual service is essential to the well-being of the world. It can be more powerful than hydrogen bombs and guided missiles.
The love of God can do more to assure a peaceful world than can the sum total of military strength.
Yet the task is for individuals. It is for people who have dedicated their lives to the One who established love and sacrifice.

Are you remembering your Lenten responsibilities?Was Refused Patent

THE NICKEL has lost its purchasing power, so it's better to be a "nickel nurser" than spend a dollar five cents at a time, as Bill Melton did recently. All he has to show for the dollar, plus shopping time, can be seen on the table. (Daily Register Staff Photo)

Melton Finds Nickel Has Lost Its Punch in One Buck Purchasing Spree

By Bill Melton

Have any of you tried, recently, to spend a dollar?

I can just hear all of you saying, "That's easy. A dollar just doesn't go any place these days."

Now here is the catch. Have you tried, recently, to spend a dollar a nickel at a time. Boy it's a job. The nickel has just about lost its purchasing power. Not many nice items on the shelves in these days of inflation, or whatever it is that makes money buy less than it once did.

I got to wondering how much authority the old five-cent piece had in the mercantile of 1958 and found that it had lost a lot of its punch since the days when I was asking "Daddy, can I have a nickel?"

It took me a couple of hours and two stores to make twenty purchases without spending more than a dollar (tax excepted).

In making the twenty nickel purchases I found that I couldn't be choosy or practical. Several of the items would come under the general classification of "stuff"; at least I find little or no use for most of the things I bought.

The last two things I bought were a "thank you" card and a plastic "glass." Think I will send the card to the nice clerks that allowed me to shop. And surely I can find some use for a plastic glass.

About midway through the shopping spree I began to think that maybe I had lost my marbles, but hadn't it's a good thing as the cheapest bag of marbles I could find sold for a dime. But later, when I knew for sure I didn't have all my buttons I was lucky enough to find some card of four for a nickel.

Among the other purchases were—Bird cage toy (and we don't have a bird), rubber tip for a cane (and I don't use a cane), a comb and a package of hair pins (and I am in short supply of hair), plastic whistle and plastic scissors (very practical purchases), drain plug (can use it), c' y pipe (just the thing for a Saint Patrick's party, and maybe I will be invited to one next year), curtain rod, nails and blind pull (this will probably call for purchase of new curtain rods and blinds), rubber ball and rubber balloon (will a certain rubber company please note) a teaspoon (not sterling), flower vase (bouquets will be accepted), crayons (I never expected such a bargain) and two honest-to-goodness practical purchases—pocket size package of tissue and package of shoe laces.

It has been brought to my attention that pencils and erasers can be purchased for a nickel, but I failed to find any at the price. Have also been told I could have purchased a variety of candy bars and chewing gum for a nickel each. There are five-cent cigars on the market too, I am told, but my informant added that he still agrees with the statement made some time ago "What this country needs is a GOOD nickel cigar."

And finally, a nickel will get an hour's parking.

So will say—it is still possible to spend a nickel, but the purchasing power isn't what it used to be.

I had fun spending the nickels. Now want to test the purchasing power of the dollar. But I will need a sponsor.

Blaze Destroys Horror House

PLAINFIELD, Wis. — A speaker at a nationwide symposium on crippled children's equipment needs asked today for a "cross-fertilization" of talents to help develop new ideas.

Dr. Dean W. Roberts, Evans-ton, executive director of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, opened the symposium at Southern Illinois University.

The rambling two-story frame building in which Gein housed skulls, face masks and other human trophies was to have been sold at auction Palm Sunday.

Clergymen and townspeople were reported to be opposed to sale of the home on a holy day, and resentful over the alleged plans of some groups to sell postcards and lunches during the auction. They claimed it would "commercialize" Gein's crimes.

Gein confessed the butcher slayings of two Plainfield area women and the looting of about a dozen graves to steal parts of women's bodies.

He was charged with first-degree murder and was committed to a state mental hospital as criminally insane.

Urge Development Of New Ideas to Aid Crippled Children

CARBONDALE, Ill. — A speaker at a nationwide symposium on crippled children's equipment needs asked today for a "cross-fertilization" of talents to help develop new ideas.

Dr. Dean W. Roberts, Evans-ton, executive director of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, opened the symposium at Southern Illinois University.

Rhoni David Rhonemus, whose motto was "die young and make a good looking corpse," was seized by Chicago police as he sought to flee a pawn shop holdup with the aid of hostages.

Roberts asked for equipment which can "unfetter the handicapped child's capacities and unlock the potentialities of his environment." He said the problem of well-designed equipment for the crippled is the concern of all who wish to foster the growth and development of the handicapped child.

About $190 taken in the pawn shop was found in Rhonemus' pockets, police said.

The FBI said Rhonemus has a criminal record dating back to 1951.

The FBI said Rhonemus critical wound in an Alameda critical wound in an Alameda County, Calif., deputy sheriff Feb. 22 when the law officer tried to stop him and a companion after a holdup.

Rhonemus was sought by the FBI for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for robbery and attempted murder.

He was to have been moved up to the most wanted list today to succeed Ben Golden McCullough, captured by the FBI March 7 at Indianapolis.

Capture Young Gunman Due For FBI List

going after the law, he said, Truman struck at the light with a coat and it burst, throwing the house in darkness.

Ralph, Leon and Donald all stuck to a story that Jolly handed Mrs. Lewis the shotgun, that they could see it happen in the light.

Leon testified his sister "told us she didn't want us in there drinking, that she was sick." He told of the four who entered and her son, Ferrell, all going out into the yard when Mrs. Lewis went over to the Jolly house, that she came into the yard with a shotgun, which went off.

Leon, when asked just why the group had gone to the Lewis home at that hour, declared "we knew she was sick and we wanted to find out how she was getting along."

Denies Disturbance

Donald Hill, the fourth who entered, denied creating a disturbance in his testimony. He said there was no conversation at the door and that he heard nothing until he went inside. He denied having a knife, as had been testified to previously.

Mrs. Lewis' son at first was very vague in his answers to Coroner Thornton except to say the men came in despite his mother's protests and that Truman knocked off the light bulb. He reluctantly admitted to questioning that he was hit in the mouth with something during an argument in the house and finally admitted he was hit "a couple of times" in the dark.

Deputy Sheriff Jeff Stricklin told of going to the Lewis house and of Mrs. Lewis telling him she had shot her brother, that she was a nervous wreck and the brothers had gotten her out of bed.

He said he learned the wounded

U. S. Interested In Inflatable

Earth Satellite

WASHINGTON — The United States is seriously interested in trying to launch an earth satellite that could expand to 100 feet in diameter.

This was disclosed by Dr. Hugh Dryden, director of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, in testimony he gave at a closed session of a House Appropriations subcommittee Feb. 18. The testimony was made public Wednesday night.

Miss Goodman also has been quoted as having knocked some of her fellow performers on the Paar show, but she denies it all, saying she's not mad at anyone.

Paar, however, feels that if the tension and the needling does not stop, he will not have Miss Goodman back when she returns after Easter from a two-week vacation in Ohio.

When the show started last summer, Miss Goodman delivered off-beat remarks on Paar's show five nights a week. Her contract with NBC was revised last December and she was limited to two or three appearances a week, at $900 a week, $20 more than she had been getting for five shows.

At that time, reports of a coolness between Paar and Miss Goodman were widely circulated. Miss Goodman felt Paar was miffed because she did not show a continuous appreciation for all he had done for her.

Three weeks ago, NBC renegotiated the Goodman contract amid new reports of a rift between Paar and the Columbus, Ohio comedian. The new contract guarantees Miss Goodman $25,000 for the next 26 weeks. However, her visits to the Paar show are not spelled out. Paar can use her whenever he feels like it, or not at all. Miss Goodman, meanwhile, will be spotlighted on other NBC-TV variety shows.

In recent weeks, viewers of "The Jack Paar Show" have noticed friction between Paar and Miss Goodman "on camera." Recently, Miss Goodman irked Paar by remarking that she planned to write a book called "Dody Goodman Strikes Back."

"It's all about my experiences on this show," she added.

one inside it. He surmised that water which poured through the factory's windows in heavy streams had kept it cool enough for perilous survival.

Cavanagh was at the scene of the blaze shortly after the second of five alarms was sounded. He said the building appeared to have been free of fire law violations, but that the entire neighborhood "stinks in fire prevention" and is full of hazardously "poor housekeeping" which the fire department, he said, is presently powerless to correct.

The screams of the living and shrieks of the dying sounded the first alarm. They still rang today in the minds of survivors and witnesses.

"Everybody was screaming," Mrs. Anna Bailey, 20, Monarch employee hospitalized for severe smoke inhalation and cuts and bruises, recalled.

"We were working when all of a sudden we heard a bang," she said. "We all ran. And everybody was screaming—Smoke and fire, they were screaming. We didn't know which way to run, there was so much smoke. There was no air in the place. We saw the wood on the floor crack and we kept trying to break windows and screaming 'Help! Help! Fire! Fire!'

Four Women Jumped

Shrieks of the trapped, some of whom later jumped through broken fourth-floor windows, were the first alarm heard by firemen of Engine Company 13 less than a block from the burning five-story loft building.

"We were all sitting around when suddenly there came these terrified shrieks," fireman John P. Nerny said. "Everyone in the station house heard them."

Nerny said he ran to the scene and begged several women not to jump from a fourth floor ledge where they huddled in terror. Other firemen arrived with nets and Nerny then cried "Jump— one at a time." Four women leaped and one bounced against Nerny, injuring his arm.

At present, there is a "satisfactory supply, demand and price situation" for cattle and hogs, the board said, thus providing "impressive evidence" that less government intervention is more profitable to the farmer.

Cattle and hog price are not supported by the government.

Feuding Continues Between Jack Paar, Dody Goodman

NEW YORK — Two funny people in a television "family" have stopped smiling at each other.

Comedian-emcee Jack Paar star of NBC-TV's "The Jack Paar Show," and comedian Dody Goodman have been feuding and there's a possibility that Miss Goodman will no longer be seen by Paar's late-night audience.

Miss Goodman also has been quoted as having knocked some of her fellow performers on the Paar show, but she denies it all, saying she's not mad at anyone.

He said the building appeared to have been free of fire law violations, but that the entire neighborhood "stinks in fire prevention" and is full of hazardously "poor housekeeping" which the fire department, he said, is presently powerless to correct.

"We were working when all of a sudden we heard a bang," she said. "We all ran. And everybody was screaming—Smoke and fire, they were screaming. We didn't know which way to run, there was so much smoke. There was no air in the place. We saw the wood on the floor crack and we kept trying to break windows and screaming 'Help! Help! Fire! Fire!'

Four Women Jumped

Shrieks of the trapped, some of whom later jumped through broken fourth-floor windows, were the first alarm heard by firemen of Engine Company 13 less than a block from the burning five-story loft building.

"We were all sitting around when suddenly there came these terrified shrieks," fireman John P. Nerny said. "Everyone in the station house heard them."

Nerny said he ran to the scene and begged several women not to jump from a fourth floor ledge where they huddled in terror. Other firemen arrived with nets and Nerny then cried "Jump— one at a time." Four women leaped and one bounced against Nerny, injuring his arm.

At present, there is a "satisfactory supply, demand and price situation" for cattle and hogs, the board said, thus providing "impressive evidence" that less government intervention is more profitable to the farmer.

Cattle and hog price are not supported by the government.

House Big Three Supports Pensions For Ex-Presidents

WASHINGTON — The House's "Big Three" lined up today to make an extraordinary bipartisan appeal for pensions for ex-presidents—including Herbert Hoover, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower when he becomes one.

Speaker Sam Rayburn, Democratic Leader John W. McCormack and GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. planned to make the plea at a closed-door session of the House Civil Service Committee.

Their appearance followed reports that a bill to give $25,000-a-year pensions to all ex-presidents—present and future—faced a tough fight in the committee.

The bill was passed by the Senate Feb. 4, 1957, and has been hanging fire in the House committee ever since.

Willie Vaughn,
Jimmy Beecham
Battle to Draw

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "I could have penalized him more," declared referee Marty Gallagher today. He was replying to mid-weight Willie Vaughn's protests against Wednesday night's rough-tactics ruling that cost him victory by one point, giving him only a draw with Jimmy Beecham.

Their TV 10-rounder at the new Capitol Arena was their third match within two months; each had won one previously.

Gallagher penalized Vaughn of Los Angeles one point for "a low blow and for pushing" in the fourth round, and he went to the two judges and asked them to do the same. This resulted in a draw.

There were no knockdowns. Beecham, 23, of Miami, was in trouble in the third round when staggered by a right uppercut and battered into the ropes.

Herrin to Play Unbeaten Chicago
Marshall in Top Quarter-Final Contest at State Tournament

By United Press

The Rock Falls Rockets who blasted their way into the quarter-finals with little trouble, and defending champion Herrin which has had a tough fight all the way, still rated today as the top contenders for the 1958 state high school basketball championship.

But don't try to tell that to Springfield, Peoria Spalding, Chicago Marshall, Aurora West, Danville Schlarman and Highland who also won tickets to the showdown at Champaign Friday and Saturday.

Herrin, which battled the rugged competition in southern Illinois all season and squeaked into the quarter-finals on a 1-point, come-from-behind victory over West Frankfort in the super-sectionals, runs right into another tough hurdle at Champaign Friday night.

The Tigers, with three regulars back from last year and a 29-3 record this season, collide with the Chicago Marshall Commandos in the feature quarter-final.

Marshall, at 27-0, is the only perfect record team still in the tourney. And to dispel any doubts about their ability to handle down-state teams, the Commandos Tuesday night whipped Elgin by 20 points, 63-43.

Marshall's big gun is sophomore center George Wilson. Herrin also has a sophomore center, Gene Turni, to go with its three returning regulars, Willie Williams, Dick Box and Jim Galdoni.

The Herrin-Marshall winner will meet the Springfield-Aurora West winner in Saturday's semi-finals.

Rock Falls rates as a heavy favorite in its quarter-final match against Danville Schlarman. The Rockets own a 31-1 record compared with 18-11 for Schlarman.

But beyond that the Rockets all season have displayed a powerful offense that hit a high of 142 points in the regionals and has regularly racked up 80 and 90 points.

Rock Falls builds its game around playmaker guard Gary Kolb. Schlarman has scoring punch in Jerry Kuemmerle and Bob Davis, who netted 28 and 27 points respectively in the supersectional against Arcola.

The winner of the Rock Falls-Schlarman tussle will advance to the semifinals against the winner of the Peoria Spalding-Highland quarter-final.

Spalding, which lacks height but the Detroit cause and Jack Coleman, like Gallatin, a veteran of many pro cage wars, came thru with a surprising total of 15.

Down as many as 15 points twice in the second period, St. Louis, which had split 12 regular season meetings with Detroit, overcame a 62-58 halftime deficit and moved ahead by 5 points in the third quarter only to drop behind by 9, 85-76 a few moments later.

The Hawks trailed by six, 90-84, as the teams headed into the final 12 minute stanza.

St. Louis sank 42 of 111 field goal attempts, compared to Detroit's 36 for 88 chart. The Pistons, who had disposed of Cincinnati in two straight preliminary playoff games last weekend, had an edge in foul shots, 39-40.

THE INDIAN GIVER

Kansas State Favored to Win NCAA Title

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The Kansas State Wildcats fly into town today for their fourth try at an NCAA basketball title. They find themselves shaky favorites in the semifinal and the final rounds Friday and Saturday nights.

Two factors seemed to put the finger of favoritism on the Kansans—their towering height across the front line, and a demonstrated ability to beat the best.

There was no doubt that coach Tex Winters was riding high in the saddle when it came to size. Hawaii is made up of more than 100 islands and rocks in the mid-Pacific, only seven of them inhabited.
